

SAY ADRIANOPLE MUST BE CEDED BY TURKEY

BALKAN ENVOYS WILL REQUIRE THIS OR PEACE CONFERENCE WILL FAIL.

THREATEN FORTRESS

Dispatches Received by Servian Delegation Today Say Adrianople is About to Fall Into Hands Of The Allies.

London, Jan. 3.—The Balkan peace envoys have decided it was declared this morning, to put the direct question to the Turkish delegation tonight whether the Ottoman government is prepared to cede the fortress of Adrianople forthwith.

Unless the Turks give a favorable answer within 24 hours the conference will be suspended. No other question will be considered by the allies until this point has been settled.

Adrianople To Fall. Advice received by the Servian peace delegation today indicated that the condition of Adrianople was desperate and that its capitulation was perhaps only a question of hours.

Surrender to Greeks. Athens, Jan. 3.—The Turkish garrison of the Island of Chios numbering 2,000 men of all arms surrendered unconditionally today to the Greek troops.

Sailing Boat Blown Up. Smyrna, Asiatic Turkey, Jan. 3.—The Turkish sailing vessel Theodore of 30 tons was blown up today by coming in contact with a floating mine at the entrance to Smyrna bay.

To Land Force in Albania. Vienna, Jan. 3.—Austria-Hungary and Italy are making preparations to land a joint expeditionary force in Albania immediately after the conclusion of the London conference according to the Wiener Journal today.

This step, it is said, is to be taken by the two allies in order to pacify Albania and "establish a new conditions" of affairs there.

ROCKEFELLER SAID TO HAVE ESCAPED

Report Says William Rockefeller and Family Are at Sea in Yacht Chartered at Brunswick, Georgia.

Bruswick, Ga., Jan. 3.—Efforts today to get further information of the name and whereabouts of the mysterious yacht reported to have carried William Rockefeller and his family out to sea brought little satisfaction.

Yacht Untraced. New York, Jan. 3.—Notwithstanding reports from Brunswick, Ga., that William Rockefeller whose testimony is sought by the Pulo committee had sailed from Jekyll island Tuesday on a specially chartered steamer for a secret destination, the cordon of process servers around his Fifth avenue mansion did not relax their vigilance today.

Charles F. Riddell, sergeant-at-arms of the house of representatives, his deputies and private detectives to the number of forty are investigating the report of Mr. Rockefeller's sailing, but in the meantime they are hopeful that they have the oil millionaire bottled up in his home here.

"A man has been sent to Jekyll island, but has not yet been heard from," said Mr. Riddell. "I think, however, that Mr. Rockefeller is here and I shall keep my men around his house until I learn positively that he is not. If he has sailed to Bermuda as reported he is out of our jurisdiction of course and I shall not attempt to follow him there."

"I thought a day or so ago that the presence of so many men outside his house and the wide publicity given our attempt to subpoena him would shame him into surrendering. I hardly think so now, however."

JUDGMENT RENDERED FAVOR OF PLAINTIFF

Jury Decides that August Behlman Must Pay Firm of Scott & Jones $336 and Costs of Action.

By the verdict of the jury drawn in the case of Scott & Jones versus August Behlman, brought in late this morning, the plaintiff was awarded judgment of $336 and the costs of the action. The jury was out about three quarters of an hour. Trial of the case was begun in the municipal court at two o'clock yesterday afternoon and continued until late when adjournment was taken to ten o'clock this morning.

Attorney M. O. Mounier, counsel for the plaintiff, and Attorney Charles Pierce, counsel for the defendant, gave their closing arguments at that time.

The case arose out of the refusal of Mr. Behlman to pay a commission to Scott & Jones, real estate agents, for the sale of his farm to W. C. Koppleman. Mr. Behlman claimed he had an agreement with the agents whereby they were to receive a commission of two percent of the sale price, and one percent if he made the sale. He also maintained that the sale was made by him without the intervention of the agents.

Scott and Jones maintained that they brought about the sale and were entitled to the two percent commission. The farm, which contains 160 acres, was sold for $16,800. The verdict upholds the contention of the plaintiff and grants them the commission claimed.

OVER ONE-FIFTH TO PAY AN INCOME TAX

Rock County Among Those Districts Where Twenty Per Thousand Population is Hit by Law.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Jan. 3.—During this month 46,552 individuals in Wisconsin will be called upon to pay an income tax according to revised statistics issued by the state tax commission. About 2 percent of the population of the state is hit by the law.

The number of persons to pay the tax varies greatly in the different counties. Dane county has the highest ratio of 36.45 for each 1,000 of population and Burnett county has the lowest ratio 2.55 per 1,000. The counties in which over 20 per 1,000 of the people pay an income tax are: Ashland, Dane, Douglas, Eau Claire, Grant, Iowa, Kenosha, La Crosse, Rock, Walworth and Washington.

Eight counties have a ratio of less than 5 taxpayers for each 1,000 population. These are Adams, Burnett, Jackson, Marquette, Pepin, Polk, Shawano and Waushara.

The amount of income from individuals and corporations taxable under the law is $100,845,862.82. The amount of tax to be collected will be $2,501,161.45 of which $1,108,707.62 will be paid by individuals and $2,392,454.44 will be contributed by corporations. Milwaukee county will pay 45 percent of all the income taxes collected in the state.

"A year's experience with the income tax serves to establish the fact that the American taxpayer is honest and will tell the truth provided assessors will take the trouble to ask him direct questions and provided the rate of taxation is reasonable," says the tax commission's report just issued.

The failure of the personal property tax has been due largely to the fact that on certain classes of personal property, particularly on securities, the tax rate was confiscatory. In a community where the tax rate is 2 percent, a 5 percent bond or mortgage will pay, if taxed, 40 percent of its net income in taxes. The maximum rate under the Wisconsin income tax is 6 percent, whereas the old personal property tax frequently took from 20 to 60 percent of the net income from securities, when the assessor happened to find them. As a rule the assessor did not find them and because of this fact the income tax at a lower rate will yield very much more revenue than the personal property tax at an exorbitantly high rate.

Valencia, Do-Minho, Portugal, Jan. 3.—A daring band of smugglers had been for several weeks passing from fair to fair and had disposed of three herds of bulls. He then started for home with the Portuguese equivalent of $90,000 in bank notes and cash with him, his forty herdsmen acting as guards.

While he was passing close to the border between Portugal and Spain he was suddenly attacked by a large band of armed smugglers who fired his party from behind rocks and thickets. The herdsmen returned the fire with vigor but were finally forced to flee. The cowboys carried off Mr. Riddell, who had been seriously wounded, but left the whole money and twenty three of their comrades on the field.

Woman's Suffrage Cause Is to the Fore in Iowa [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 3.—A constitutional amendment providing for woman's suffrage will be introduced at the session of the Iowa legislature about to convene, with apparently the best chance of carrying that it has ever had in this state. Other important measures to come before the legislature will deal with working men's compensation, a nine-hour work day for women and various reforms in state prison management, the educational system and the methods of taxation.

Rectify Error Made in Assessing Income Tax County Clerk Howard Lee this morning certified to City Clerk P. Hamann that through a clerical error made at the office of the State Tax Commission in Madison the Shurtliff Company had been assessed with an income tax of $1,665.03. The correct figure is $236. The error was so evident that no time was lost in discovering and rectifying it.

Rescued Passenger and Crew of Foundered Ship. Bona, Algeria, Jan. 3.—The Cunard liner Tyria rescued and brought into port today ninety-eight of the passengers and crew of the French mail steamship St. Augustine running between Marseilles and Algiers. St. Augustine foundered just after midnight while she lay in her tow. No details as to how the accident occurred have been secured.

REPORT FINDINGS OF INVESTIGATION OF RURAL SCHOOLS

Consolidation of Country Schools and County Board of Education Among Recommendations of State Committee.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Jan. 3.—The findings of the committee of fifteen, appointed by State Superintendent C. P. Cary soon after the close of the last legislature to investigate conditions in the schools of Wisconsin, were made public today. The chief recommendations provide for:

Consolidation of country schools where possible; A county board of education; More rigid qualifications of teachers and additional training schools to make this possible; Modification of normal school courses of study to meet the needs of those students preparing to become principals of state graded schools; Amendment of the certification law;

Encouraging use of the school-house as a social center; More state aid for elementary schools.

The committee, which numbers county superintendents, past and present, normal school authorities, several agricultural experts, and educational leaders, consists of the following: Rose Cheney, Manitowish; H. Christman, Menominee Falls; George P. Comings, Eau Claire; F. A. Cotton, La Crosse; John S. Donald, Mt. Horeb; Leo P. Fox, Chilton; Charles L. Hill, Rosendale; F. S. Hyer, Stevens Point; M. H. Jackson, Grand Rapids; W. E. Larson, Madison; A. H. Long, Prairie du Chien; Ellen B. McDonald, Oconomowoc; O'Shea, Madison; C. E. Patzer, Milwaukee; and George E. Scott, Prairie Farm.

Cary Is Optimistic. States Superintendent Cary was not a member nor did he write any part of the report. In an introduction, however, he reviews the school situation in the state, finding cause for optimism as a result of increase of prosperity for the rural districts. On this topic he says:

"Great changes for the better have taken place in country education in the past ten years. Hundreds of districts—nearly five out of every six, the state over, as a matter of fact—have provided ventilation by means of ventilating stoves. They have put the outbuildings into decent shape; they have added supplementary readers, maps, blackboards; they have increased the number of books in their libraries by 200 percent; and have furnished cases and card catalogues for them; they have increased the expenditure of money per child enrolled by 100 percent; they have increased the school year from seven months to eight; they have increased the amount of compulsory period for each child by 100 percent; they have added agriculture to the school course as prescribed by law; they have increased the number of county training schools from three to twenty-seven, and increased the course of training 100 percent in point of time. High schools have awakened and are vying with the county training schools, as are also the state normals; the training of the country teachers.

Criticisms of Public. In approaching the problem, the committee faced many criticisms of the schools by the people, among which these are enumerated: Too many weak, inefficient and untrained teachers; in many cases ignorance, lack of interest and lack of co-operation on the part of normals; neglect of duties by some school officers; much irregular attendance; lack of proper supervision; many schools too small; lack of thorough work in the fundamentals; schools trying to cover too much ground; children do not stay in the school long enough.

Among the suggestions most frequently given were the following: Train the teachers for the work; county training schools; the good, efficient teachers higher wages; enforce the compulsory attendance law; stir up interest in educational matters by means of parents' meetings, debating societies, farmers' clubs, school entertainments, etc., making the school a social and civic center; secure better supervision; do more thorough work in the fundamentals; make the schools practical; consolidate the schools where they are small, and where it is feasible.

Find Helpful Forces. Among the helpful forces mentioned were: The school board conventions, special state aid for country schools, the compulsory attendance law, the county training schools for country teachers, public meetings of various kinds, farmers' clubs, strong support of the county superintendent in organizing educational forces and stirring up interest in educational matters, teachers' institutes.

After discussing the more pressing needs, the committee mentions the following as of much importance also: Better school attendance; a more equitable distribution (levy) of school taxes; more money for elementary schools; courses of study adapted to the needs of the community; provision for the education of the children who live beyond the two-mile limit; and a minimum salary law for teachers.

Two pamphlets—one on consolidations and one on the schoolhouse as a social center—are in preparation by the committee.

A. H. Christman was chairman of the committee of fifteen and W. E. Larson, state rural school inspector, was secretary.

Escaped From Hospital: Martin Hagerman, an inmate of the county insane hospital, escaped early this morning, but was captured at about noon today, six miles east of this city. Hagerman was committed from the town of Plymouth. When he escaped he wore on coat and was easily identified. Hagerman is about thirty years old.

SENATOR JEFF DAVIS DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Arkansas Senator Dies After Illness of Several Months Although Recovery Was Expected.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 3.—Definite arrangements for the funeral of United States Senator Jeff Davis had been completed this morning, but it is probable the services will take place next Sunday and that the body will be placed in the family burial plot at Russellville.

Senator Davis died suddenly at 12:35 o'clock this morning of heart failure the culmination of an illness of several months. However, his condition apparently was improving and yesterday he was at his office the greater part of the day.

The death of Senator Davis on the eve of the ratification of his reelection by the legislature creates a peculiar political situation in Arkansas, and while an authoritative statement has not been made, it is possible a special primary will be called to select a successor for the full term beginning March 4th next. As an alternative it is suggested that the legislature would have power to name the new senator.

Gov. George W. Donaghey, who will retire from office January 13, and congressman W. A. Oldfield, had tentatively announced that they would be candidates for the United States senate two years hence to succeed Sen. James P. Clark.

Senate Adjourns. Washington, Jan. 3.—On account of the death of Senator Jeff Davis of Arkansas, the senate adjourned today after a six minutes session until tomorrow.

Senators Pomerene, Bryan, Ashurst, Martine, Curtis, Clapp and Clark of Arkansas were appointed a committee to attend the funeral of Senator Davis, and will leave tonight for Little Rock.

Duluth Accepts the New City Charter Commission Form of Government Takes Charge of Affairs in Minnesota City.

Duluth, Jan. 3.—With the stroke of last midnight the old form of government in Duluth with its ward representatives went out of existence and the new charter providing commission rules of the city went into effect. The new charter provision requiring each signer of a petition to go before a notary public is expected to cause considerable delay in getting out the petition for commissioners. At least fifty individual documents will have to be signed for each of the prospective candidates.

British Warships Arrive This Morning Amid Dense Fog With Remains of Late Ambassador.

New York, Jan. 3.—Steaming slowly in a dense fog, the British cruiser Natal bearing the body of William Reid, late United States ambassador to England, passed Sandy Hook shortly after eight o'clock this morning. Accompanying her was a guard of honor of the United States battleships Florida and North Dakota and the destroyers Koc, Drayton, McCall and Paulding.

Rain and fog furnishes a somber setting to the arrival of the funeral ship. All flags in the city were lowered to half mast.

TERRIFIED MANIACS RELEASED BY FIRE

Elvas, Portugal, Jan. 3.—One person was killed and nine others seriously injured today by five terrified maniacs, who had been released by firemen from a burning asylum in the outskirts of this city.

Although thirty-five lunatics were set free and these rushed howling through the streets for some time, thirty of them were easily gathered together and consigned in the municipal buildings, but the other five secured some iron rods from the scrap heap and attacked everyone they met. Several hours passed before they were overpowered.

FIGHT BETWEEN DRUGGISTS AND PATENT MEDICINE MEN.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 3.—Charging that the druggists of the state desire to gain through legislation a monopoly of the sale of domestic remedies, proprietary medicine manufacturers have started a campaign against the idea.

Legislators and leading politicians at the capital have received a letter from J. E. Richeart, of Wausau, in which he declares that "the members of my occupation are not outlaws but are reputable business men." He intimates that "the druggist, our competitors, raise an uproar based on false reports" for selfish and composite reasons.

ALLEGED MAIL SWINDLER TRIED IN U. S. COURT.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 3.—Frank C. Winchell, former president of the Oxford linen mills of Brookfield, was arraigned in the Federal court today for a preliminary hearing on charges of having used the mails in a scheme to defraud. Winchell's arrest followed the raid two weeks ago on the offices of the Sterling Debutante Company in New York and other cities. The Sterling concern, it is estimated, sold about $33,000,000 of the stocks of various companies, including the Oxford linen mills. Much of this stock was in legitimate companies, but an enormous amount, it is alleged, was of bogus concerns and was worthless.

Committees in Session: Tax certifiants and illegal taxes composed of H. B. Reseky, town of Beloit, K. K. Newkirk, town of Clinton, and H. T. Harper, Plymouth, held a meeting at the county clerk's office today. Committee No. 9 also continued in session.

PARTY DIVIDED BY FACTIONAL FIGHTS

Liberal Government of England Will Remain in Power Because of Troubles of Unionists.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] London, Jan. 3.—The project of imposing taxes on food imported into the British Isles put forward by some of the leaders of the opposition in the house of commons has created such hopeless dissension in the unionist party as to render almost certain the retention of power by the liberal government for the two years necessary to overcome the resistance of the House of Lords to the home rule bill.

On the other hand the wrangle among the unionists afford some temptation to the government to make an appeal to the country on the issue of increased majority.

This, however, is a course of action which has little likelihood of being sanctioned by the members of the unionist party because it would delay the passage of the home rule bill and would even risk the return of the unionists to office, thus shelling home rule altogether.

On the whole, therefore, the ministers now appear to be that the solution of the commons laws now on their legislative program, especially as David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, practically overcame his difficulty with the medical profession and has secured almost enough doctors to work the new insurance act.

According to the leading morning papers two hundred and sixty-five members of the unionist party have abandoned the idea of taxing food leaving only seventeen advocates of food taxes under the auspices of Austen Chamberlain.

If this estimate is a correct one, the recent campaign against food taxes has done extraordinarily successful and Andrew Bonar Law's position as leader of the unionist party has become somewhat difficult as he has publicly advocated the policy abandoned by the bulk of his party.

WALSH WILL SUCCEED DIXON AS SENATOR

Democrats in Control of Both Houses of Montana Legislature—Many Important Measures Broached.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Helena, Mont., Jan. 3.—The Montana legislature which will convene here Monday is expected to make for itself an important place in the history of the state. Measures of much weight will be brought before the new legislature, chief among which is a woman's suffrage bill, a comprehensive road law, provision for direct primaries, presidential preference primaries, and a limitation upon the expenses of the candidates, and bills dealing with reform in the methods of taxation, the conservation of water power, and a closer supervision over mining and other investment enterprises.

The Democrats will be in control of both houses of the legislature, which means that a Democrat will be elected to the United States senate to succeed Joseph M. Dixon, the Progressive Republican leader who directed the Roosevelt presidential campaign. The choice for the senatorship is T. J. Walsh, a wealthy Helena lawyer.

Mr. Walsh has aspired to the senatorship ever since the days of the late "Cork" Carter. Several years ago he was an unsuccessful candidate for Congress.

MINNESOTA SOLONS CONVENE NEXT WEEK

Members Arriving in Capital in Anticipation of Opening—No Contest On Senatorship.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 3.—Members of the Minnesota legislature are already putting in an appearance in anticipation of the opening of the biennial session the first of the week. The general sentiment expressed by those already on the ground is that the session will be marked by the transaction of much important business. One of the first items of business will be the selection of a United States senator, but this will be a perfunctory task for the lawmakers, as the preferential vote at the November election assures the re-election of Senator Knute Nelson.

A presidential preference primary law is likely to be passed at this session, and the initiative and referendum and recall will be proposed in constitutional amendments. Other measures that are pretty sure to receive attention include an "employers' liability" law, a "blue sky" law to prevent the sale of worthless stock, reforms in court procedure, amendments to the state-wide primary law, and legislation providing for road improvements, the extension of agricultural education, woman's suffrage and county option.

Repeating to this Zolline declared that the evidence on which conviction was obtained at Indianapolis was "vague and inadequate" and that the judge of the lower court should not have allowed the cases of many of the defendants to go to the jury at all.

MANY THINGS SENT BY PARCELS POST

Oshkosh, Jan. 3.—The parcels post business at Oshkosh today made a great jump forward in the amount of parcels sent and included among other things a pitchfork, a whiffetree, and a cartload of empty boxes. The boxes were shipped by the Payne Lumber company, which manufactures them here, and were sent out to points from Maine to California to the trade as samples. Each box occupied about five feet of space in length and width and was securely nailed together. It is expected many more loads of these boxes will go through the mail.

SECOND INFANTRY CAPTAIN RESIGNS HIS COMMISSION.

Appleton, Wis., Jan. 3.—The resignation of Captain Ulrich Moekel, company C, second infantry, Sheboygan was received at the headquarters of the second infantry last night as captain Moekel intends moving to Milwaukee. First Lieutenant E. A. Hickey and Second Lieutenant Paul Schmidt were at once ordered to prepare for the examination for captain, and first lieutenant respectively. No elections are allowed in the second infantry for other than second lieutenant.

Willie Ritchie complains that he has not received the right treatment in New York. He has nothing to say against the promoters, but rather against the fighters, who have refused to meet him. Particularly bitter is he against Leach Cross whose excuse was "The promoters wouldn't give me a guarantee."

Why should a fighter, and especially Leach Cross, ask for guarantee? A fighter is worth just exactly what he draws at the box office window, nothing more nor less. The New York fighters are afraid of Ritchie, and any excuse seems better to them than none.

In demanding $10,000 or nothing for next season it is just possible that Rube Marquard is thinking of Bobby Carruthers of the St. Louis Browns who a few years ago demanded $5,000 a year of Owner Chris Von der Ahe. He was turned down, whereat he went to Paris. A month after the season opened, when the "gate" at St. Louis amounted to only $10, Von der Ahe told Manager Charley Comiskey to wire Carruthers to come home and he would pay him $5,000. Bobby came and proceeded to pitch the Browns into first place.

Marquard threatens also to go to Paris if he doesn't get his price.

Mrs. Bernhard C. Charles W. Murphy, owner of the Chicago Cubs, opines that Tyms Raymond Cobb of the Detroit Tigers is no judge of ballplayers. Ty didn't think much of "Red" Corridon, recently sold by Detroit to Chicago, as a player, but that didn't worry Murphy. The Cub owner says the Georgia peach is so good a player himself that he sees the faults of his mates too clearly and therefore underestimates them.

Nobody disputes Ty's ability as a player. His ability as a judge will be put to the test next season. Ty holds that Bobbie Veach, the Tiger's now left fielder, is a find. The year 1913 will tell whether this is the case or not.

BASEBALL MAGNATE ON THE FRYING-PAN

J. Cal Ewing and E. N. Walter.

E. N. Walter has resigned as president of the Oakland baseball club in the Coast league, and in so doing has made certain statements which will keep J. Cal Ewing, owner of the San Francisco Seals of the same league, on the frying-pan for some time to come. Walter disclosed the fact that Ewing was the principal owner, not only of the Seals but of the Oakland club as well. This means that the fans of the San Francisco bay district have been paying to see syndicate baseball for years. When Walter made the announcement of Ewing's ownership of Oakland stock, the latter at once sold his interest in the club.

MANY STAR ATHLETES AT NATIONAL MEET

Number Enrolled to Contest for Junior Indoor Contests Surpasses All Previous Records. (SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New York, Jan. 3.—Seldom in the history of the national junior indoor athletic championships has there been such a wealth of runners, leapers and weight hurlers of high grade as are entered for the annual meet to be pulled off in the Twenty-second Regiment Armory here tomorrow night. Cities as widely separated as Boston, Chicago and New Orleans, with many of the intervening points, have sent their best performers to compete for the honors. Colleges and clubs alike will be represented. Among the big colleges that will take part are Yale, Harvard, Cornell and Pennsylvania. The list of events includes the 60-yards, 220-yards, 600-yards, 1000-yards and two-mile runs, one-mile walk, 60-yards high hurdle race, standing high jump, sturdling broad jump, running high jump and putting the 12-pound shot.

In view of the many star performers included among the entries it seems almost certain that some of the marks in the eleven events will be displaced by better figures before the evening's program is concluded.

CHICAGO UNIVERSITY FIVE MEETS BELOIT

Local Basketball Fans Are Interested In Game at Line City Tomorrow Night—Local Boy Heads College Team.

Janesville basketball fans are interested in the basketball game which will be played at the Beloit college gymnasium tomorrow night between the college and University of Chicago teams. The fact that Emmett Murphy, son of William Murphy of this city, is captain of the Beloit five, is one reason for local enthusiasm over the contest. Murphy is recognized as one of the fastest forwards in the state and has an enviable record for crack basket shooting. He began his career in basketball on the Janesville high school squad and has played with the Lakota team on several occasions. The game with Chicago is the first the Line City squad has had in many years. It will be a practice game for the Maroons but they will run up against a tough proposition with Coach Evan's speedy youngsters.

ROLLER SKATERS TO VISIT ROCKFORD COLISEUM RINK.

Arrangements Made Whereby They Can Make Trip by Special Car on Tuesday, January 14.

Roller skating enthusiasts in this city are expected to travel to Rockford in large numbers on January 14 to attend the special meet held at the Coliseum rink there that evening. A special interurban car will be provided for their accommodation and they will be accompanied by the Moose band. The manager of the Coliseum promises many special features for that evening and is preparing for a record crowd. The cars will leave Janesville for Rockford at 6 o'clock and return as soon as the rink closes.

My commission expires July 12, 1914.

FRATERNALS ARE HIT HARD.

"With a court injunction against them, the officials of the Modern Woodmen of America are prevented from collecting the increased rates authorized at the last meeting of the head camp. This means that the unfortunate members of that organization will not be permitted to repair their rapidly disintegrating structure, even though it threatens to fall upon their heads. The Royal Arcanum has also received a 'solar plexus' blow in the decision of the New York court of appeals, where it was held that the order could not increase the rates of its old members. Under this decision it may be possible for all those who have paid the increased rate to secure judgment for the added amount.

"There is trouble in store for the Knights of Pythias, according to a decision of the United States district court in the case of A. V. H. Smythe against the order. The court enjoins the cancellation of a certificate for non-payment of the increased rate and orders the reinstatement of Smythe at the rate stated at the date he joined. The substance of these decisions indicates that assessment concerns and associations must do the best they can through an increase in number of assessments as occasion requires, but they cannot add to the rates in order to accumulate a reserve fund. In other words, the court says: 'You may only pay as you go. Pass the hat around a little oftener when death losses are heavy. That is all the contract permits.'

The 'Argus' is authority for the above opinion on fraternal insurance. The recent court decisions are of vital importance to the companies referred to, and their collapse is only a matter of time. The 'Knights of Honor' faded away, after freezing out its old members, and the association would have died a natural death, had the freeze-out not occurred.

The great drawing card of all fraternal insurance societies is the alluring promise of something for nothing, and the reason why all of them fail, is because there is no lottery in the game, and the only way to beat it is to die before the company becomes insolvent.

The state of Wisconsin, like many other states, has discovered that the people need protecting against themselves, and so laws are being passed which make it difficult for this class of companies to do business.

It is to be regretted that this class of legislation did not command attention years ago, for the country is flooded with an army of old men, who are left without protection when they have passed the insurance age.

Tables of mortality are as reliable as any other class of statistics, and a casual study will satisfy any man that fraternal insurance is unsound financially, because it does not comply with the laws of mortality, which are immutable. If the Modern Woodmen desire to postpone the day of final dissolution, its members can ill-afford to oppose the advanced rate. These companies all travel the same route, and the question of collapse is only a matter of time.

THE AMERICAN COW.

"Much has been heard—and justly, too—of the wonderful work of the bee, but the cow likewise is an indefatigable worker and producer. Even a publication ordinarily so dry as a census publication brims over with poetic suggestions in enumerating the numbers of the cows of this country and their products. For example, there were 20,625,000 dairy cows in this country on April 15, 1910, and that number does not accurately count them all. The total production of milk for 1909 was 5,814,000,000 gallons, but this is probably 10 per cent below the full production. Dairy products for the same year, exclusive of milk and cream, amounted in value to $598,413,000. The total reported value of dairy products of farms sold in 1909 was $473,769,000, of which the value of milk, cream and butter-fat sold represented nearly four-fifths, and that of butter most of the remainder. Production of butter and cheese on the farm in 1909 was not so great as in previous years, but this is because the manufacture of both is being transferred from farm to factory, and much the greater part of cheese is now manufactured in factories.

"The manufacture of dairy products is widely distributed. In 1909 the leading dairy states, judged by the total value of the product of the farm, not including milk and cream used at home, were—with our own state leading—New York, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Iowa, Ohio, Minnesota, Michigan and California, and in each of the states the value reported exceeded $20,000,000. In the production of butter on farms and in factories, Wisconsin was the leading state, with New York the seventh. The average value of butter was 24.2 cents per pound in 1909, as compared with 16.7 cents in 1899, an increase of 44.9 per cent.

"Outside of these figures, which show what an important factor the American cow is, there is another consideration worth taking into account, and that is the raising of better and higher breeds of cows. Unfortunately, the census bulletin does not at the present time furnish this information, but it is a large and growing business, and the result of it is seen in better cattle, finer breeds and more excellent products.

"Surely the American cow is a true patriot, and there is little in the criticism that some representatives of the species may be found in the moose, noticeably on the male side. Even the moose is not such an amputated figure as it was more or less recently."

The Wall Street Journal, which has a good deal to do with the "bulls" and "bears," pays this choice compliment to the American cow. The average New Yorker knows as little about the cow, as he does about the great west, and the analysis will be a revelation.

It will be noticed that Wisconsin leads the procession, in the manufacture of butter, a compliment which should be appreciated. The cow and the hen are by-products on the average farm, but both contribute freely to the wealth of the nation.

APPLETON CLEANING UP.

"Purging billiard and pool rooms of youngsters under eighteen years of age is the latest move of the city commissioners, who delegated Special Officer Michael Garvey to visit all such places on Monday and notify the proprietors to warn youths of the city who have not yet reached the eighteen mark to stay away entirely. In at least one of the local pool rooms the proprietors have never allowed youngsters under eighteen to amuse themselves in the place and have discouraged the presence of youngsters even when accompanied by older brothers. The latest order of the commission will work no particular hardship on the billiard hall operators inasmuch as they do not cater particularly to 'kid' trade, as they call it, and are pleased to a certain extent that the order to clean them out has been officially served on them.

"Those having candy card or cigar card pulls will be permitted to use them until January 1 and no longer, according to the commission's recently issued luendo regarding all forms of raffling, etc."—Appleton Post.

While Chicago opened the new year with a big "drunk," and a night of lawlessness, many of the smaller cities start in with a determination to clean house, and start the year right. Appleton sets the pace in Wisconsin and Oskosh is also in line. Both cities are commission ruled. Let the good work go on.

THE RECALL.

"The Janesville parties who are anxious to apply the recall to the present officers of that city who are serving their first term under the commission form of government, it seems will be under the necessity of making a new start. The recall petitions, as presented to the city clerk, have been thrown out and it seems that their validity was subject to attack from more points than one. The discovery that 150 men who signed the petitions were not qualified electors of Janesville as compared with the poll lists at the last city election should in itself have an important educational influence. It should teach the average voter that if he wants to exercise his privilege as an elector it will behoove him to give sufficient attention to that phase of his duties as a citizen to make sure that his name appears properly on the poll lists. Taken all in all this should serve to increase interest in civic affairs. And if the commission form of government does this it is a good thing."

That other cities are watching the recall movement in Janesville, will be noticed by this article from the Four du Lac Commonwealth. The next move in the game will be the circulating of new petitions, which are now being prepared. Whether they will apply to all, or only one member of the council, is a question for the law to determine.

The increased cost of producing newspapers has made it necessary to advance prices, and the four dailies at Bridgeport, Conn., celebrated the new year by doubling subscription rates. Many papers throughout the country are running without profit, and advertising rates are being generally advanced.

The thirty-three convicted dynamiters, entered Leavenworth federal prison on New Year's day. It is safe to say that the anniversary will long be remembered. If the lesson taught impresses the public mind, as it should, the first of January, 1913, will be one of the most important events in the history of the nation.

The fact has long been recognized that the man who can sell lightning rods and life insurance, can sell anything that is salable. A Chicago solicitor, while on the operating table the other day, sold the surgeon a $5,000 policy, and later in the day sold the attending nurse a $1,000 policy. Most people take a vacation of a few days, when they go to the hospital.

It is reported that John D. Rockefeller, and his brother, William, are on the high seas, sailing away to foreign shores to avoid investigation. This sort of contempt for court will add nothing to the popularity of the Standard Oil company.

SPUR OF THE MOMENT.

The Wet Blanket. Old Uncle's Peter never had a single happy day.

Because you see old Uncle Pete just wasn't built that way.

When the sky was cloudless and the sun came out real bright.

"A weather breeder," he would say. "You'll see that I am right."

When anybody had the sand to open up a store.

Or go in any business.

Old Uncle Pete would roar: "By gavy, but that man's a chump. Times are so gooding tight. That he will never make his salt. You'll see that I am right."

When folks began to figger on a railroad for the town.

Old Uncle Pete was dead set on turnin' it down.

"He said a railroad is all bosh. Won't help this town a mite. 'Twill only kill our sheep and haws. You'll see that I am right."

One day old Uncle Pete died. A cynic to the end.

He kicked until the very last. And never would unbend.

But still he was contented as with death he made his trust. Because he never really knew how much of life he'd missed.

From the Hickeyville Clarion.

One of the pool balls suddenly flew off the table and disappeared during a game in the Golden Nugget saloon five weeks ago and its whereabouts was a mystery until yesterday when Amariah Tilson, our consorial artist, found it in Grandpa Bibbins' whiskers. "Am" got a drink for takin' it back to the Golden Nugget and says he is going to examine all whiskers in the future. Who knows but some day he may find a piano or a forty-five candle-power automobile?

It don't pay to rub a cat or a plug hat the wrong way. T. Egbert Peavey expects to leave soon for the city to accept a lucrative position as second mandolin in a barber shop.

Amos Butts, livery, feed and sales stables and undertaking with neatness and dispatch, also folding chairs to rent says he has got a roan gelding which went better than three-hundred on a kite shaped track to trade for three bushel of potatoes and a cord of wood. If the other fellow will throw in a wringer, grindstone, a box of red herring and a set of false teeth suitable for middle-aged gent, Amos will throw in a bridle, laprobe, one bushel corn, set of hobbles, one good meat grinder, second-hand zinc board, one hose nozzle (slightly worn) two volumes of Swede Bergain religion and first-class wire dishrag. Here's a chance for a dicker gent.

Mrs. Anson Frisby told a friend that she cut Mrs. Hank Tunns dead the other day. Constable Ezra Hand is workin' on the case, but he ain't found no murder claw as yet.

Grandpa Bibbins has got a new set of false teeth made out of second-hand planner keys he got at a bargain down to the city.

The Rev. Mr. Hudnutt says there is one good thing about an atheist. He never goes to sleep in church.

Mrs. Ansel Hanks is improving considerably at this writing. The new trimmer at Miss Amy Stubbs' millinery emporium has two colors of hair dark near the scalp and silver at the ends. Elmer Spink expects to hang her a May basket next spring.

Somebody must be dead in Tage Wilkin's family. He is wearing his pants at half-mast at this writing. Arrangements are being made to receive the next message of the president by rounds at the harness shop. Young fellows part their hair in the middle and show that they have got a soft spot in their heads and old fellows part their hair on the side so as to cover it up.

Noah Webster Down to Date. Contortionist—Man who can undress in the upper birth of a sleeper.

Contributor—An ultimate consumer.

Convention—A crooked political meeting very popular with the ancients.

Copperheads—Man who does not agree with you on politics. See also Malefactor, Demagogue, Imbecile, liar, Horse thief, etc.

Cornet—An instrument of torture.

Corset—A gay deceiver, which doesn't deceive anybody.

Count—A gentleman who has no money.

Courtship—A period in a man's life when the foolish house gates are just yawning for him.

Cow—An old fashioned animal that will never be superseded by the automobile.

Chuban—Man who isn't happy unless he's unhappy.

FATHERS BILL FOR EXPOSITION BLDG.

Senator Perkins, of California, has introduced a bill in the upper house of congress providing for the erection of a suitable government building at the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco in 1915. Twenty-three other governments have made appropriations for the erection of buildings and California people wonder if the United States will be twenty-fourth. The exposition authorities have not asked congress for a dollar aid.

One Proper Form of Pride. Pride is one of the seven deadly sins; but it cannot be the pride of a mother in her children, for that is a compound of two cardinal virtues—faith and hope.—Charles Dickens.

Proof in the Hearing. "Is your husband a sound sleeper, madam?" "If you'll listen a minute, doctor, you'll find for yourself there is a great deal of sound to his sleep."

Probably. The man who spends his life pursuing fame probably does so because he never gets a chance to turn off on a by-path that appears to lead straight to wealth.

MAJESTIC THEATER

Blanche Walsh in "RESURRECTION"

On Tuesday afternoon and evening, Jan. 7, the superb pictures of Tolstoy's immortal drama, just as played on Broadway, New York, for over a year will be shown again. On account of the length of the film, we may not be able to accommodate everybody in the evening; if possible, come in the afternoon, at half past two or a quarter to four.

MAJESTIC THEATER

Afternoon and evening Friday, Jan. 10.

Capt. Scott's Expedition To the SOUTH POLE

Made by authority of the London Geographical Society for Historical and Research Purposes.

These pictures, taken in that far-off and mysterious country of eternal ice and snow, are without a doubt the crowning event in the art of motion photography. You are transported to the very edge of the South Pole. Every scene will fill you with wonder and awe at the beauty and vastness of this country, where ice is, and always will be reigning monarch. You will see for the first time in Moving Pictures the Setting of the Midnight Sun and that great unspanned waste of ice the Great Ice Barrier which will be shown in all its grandeur and massiveness.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Training School Opens: Students of the Rock county teachers' training school resumed their duties yesterday after the holiday vacation. School will continue in session over Saturday. A number of rural school teachers and former teachers are expected to make inspection visits on that day.

Banquet Tonight: The team which won the Elks bridge whist tournament will be banqueted at the Caledonia rooms by the losing team. Covers will be laid for fifty.

Omit Story Hour: The usual morning story hour for children at the Janesville Public Library will be omitted tomorrow morning.

Awaiting New Dies: City Sealer of Weights and Measures, Walter Helms is awaiting the arrival of new 1913 stamps and dies before resuming his official duties. The dies and stamps were ordered from the Fairbanks-Morse company at Chicago, the firm which sold the city its standard weights and measures and testing devices.

Curiosity in River: Pedestrians crossing the Montmorency bridge during the last week or ten days were amazed to see what was apparently a good sized tree growing in mid-stream near the big rock to the east. The tree was carried away a day or two ago when the ice that had formed broke up.

TAX NOTICE, TOWN OF ROCK.
I will be in Janesville at Skeely's store on Saturdays and in Afton on the 7th and 21st, in the month of January, to collect taxes for the year 1912.

PROMINENT RAILWAY OFFICIAL IS DEAD

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Roswell Miller, Chairman of C. M. & St. P. Road, Found Dead in Bed in His New York Home.
Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Jan. 3.—Roswell Miller, chairman of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company died suddenly here today. Mr. Miller was found dead in bed this morning at his home by a servant who tried to wake him. He left his office yesterday afternoon in apparent good health. He was about 59 years old.

Yesterday was the first day Mr. Miller had visited his office for more than a week. He left New York on a short vacation for the holiday returning home yesterday. No arrangements for the funeral had been made early this afternoon.

SENATORIAL CONTEST LIVELY IN DELAWARE

Democrats Have Captured Legislature For First Time in Many Years —In Factional Fight.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Dover, Del., Jan. 3.—Members of the legislature and other politicians of Delaware are already much in evidence in the capital, although the legislature will not convene until next week. The early arrival of the members is chiefly due to the keen interest in the contest now on for the United States senatorship.

For the first time in many years the Democrats have captured the legislature and will have the privilege of choosing one of their party to succeed Harry A. Richardson, Republican, in the United States senate.

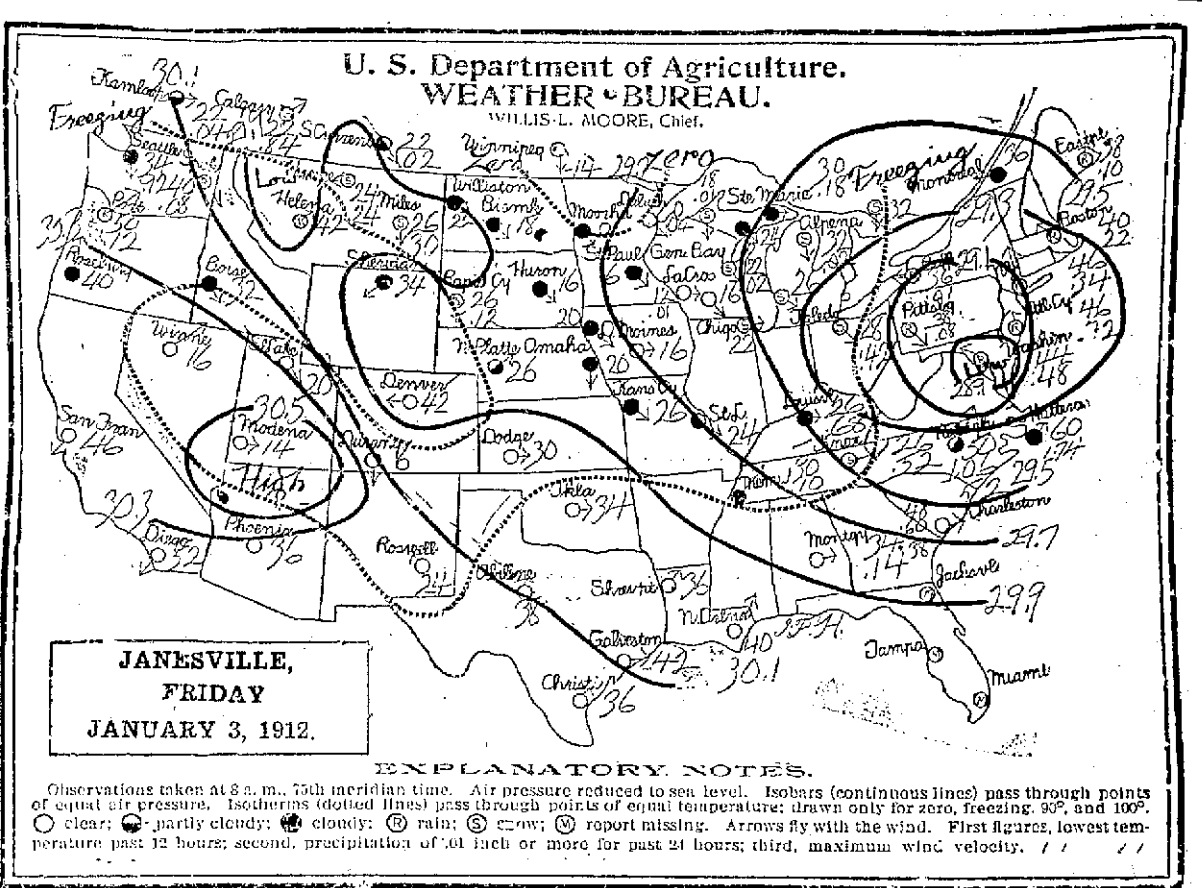

The battle is being waged between Willard Saulsbury, Democratic national committeeman, and politicians who are strongly opposed to the selection of Saulsbury for the senatorship.

Friends of Saulsbury argue that he is entitled to the senatorship because he was one of the original Wilson boomers in Delaware. They also point to the fact that he has been spending his money for many years to elect his supporters to the legislature.

The storm that was north of the Lake Region yesterday has moved southeastward over the Alleghenies, and its center is now over Virginia. The atmospheric pressure is unusually low in the center of the disturbance, 28.90 being reported at Washington this morning. Gales and high winds are reported in the Carolinas, and there has been a sharp drop in temperature in the Ohio valley which will reach the Atlantic coast today as the storm moves northeastward. Light or moderate rain and snow, according to the temperature, have fallen throughout the East. It continues cloudy in north Central and Northwestern districts and snow is falling in the northern Rockies.

It is rainy on the north Pacific coast. The barometer continues high in the Plateau region with attendant cold weather. The atmosphere is much disturbed in the Rockies and there is a tendency to form areas of low barometer in Wyoming and Montana, which, if it continues, may cause bad weather here in the next few days.

EVENING CAP OF GREEN TAFFETA WITH EARRINGS LATEST EDICT FROM PARIS

Paris fashion's latest edict is an evening cap of green taffeta covered over with heavy lace which in turn is studded with scintillating beads.
At the sides, above the ears, lace and beads are gathered into a rosette from which are suspended three clusters of beads to represent the long drooping earrings now so much in vogue.

LARGE STAP SALE MADE BY CHILDREN

Pupils in City Sells Sell 20,958
Christmas Seal-Total Sale
Is About $100,000.

Pupils in the city schools did excellent work in the Christmas seal sale for the Anti-Tuberculosis society selling 20,958 stamps adding to the announcement of Missabel Greenman, local campaign rager. The total sale of stamps for city was 50,000 which means $5000 tuberculosis work. One half this amount will go to the local tuberculosis organization for their in Janesville and the remainder will be forwarded to the state association. Miss Greenman states the sales quite satisfactory although light have been larger had not health prevented her taking active part of the work during the last few weeks before Christmas.

In the different schools the Jefferson pupils did the most selling 5,207 stamps. The high school students who were not actively organized for the purpose of selling seals, sold the smallest number only 165. The other schools sold the following amounts: Grant, 1,124; Garfield, 2,016; Adams, 2,370; Webb, 2,560; Lincoln, 2,488; Washington, 2,500; Douglas, 1,474. Reports have been received from the parochial schools. The figures on the pupils sold the largest numbers, individuals have not yet been compiled, but expected that the prize winners will be announced some time next week.

Sale at Oshkosh. The Christmas seals sold at Oshkosh year number $5,935 bringing in about $595.35, and as a result of sale a visiting nurse will be engaged for the coming school year to assist the pupils of the public schools tuberculosis. Miss Mae Kinney Milwaukee a graduate nurse will work here.

OBITUARY.

John Thy. Footville, Jan. John Thorpy passed away at home of his mother, Mrs. Violophy, in this village late Thursday evening. He was born in the city of Janesville Feb. 2, 1878 and died at Footville with his parents aged 34. He was a popular young man and a center fielder for the Footville White Sox, until his ill health prevented his taking part in the sport. He leaves to mourn his wife, his widowed mother and her, Charles, of Footville; a sister, Henry Harvey of Edgerton an aged grandmother. The funeral will be held at one-thirty o'clock today from his mother's home, present at the Center cemetery.

EDGERTON LODGE IS HOST LAST EVENING

Knights of Pythias Enjoy Dancing Party at Academy Hall Last Night Other News.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Edgerton, Jan. 3.—The social of the season was the dancing party given by the K. P. lodge of Edgerton last evening in academy hall. Music was furnished by Herch's orchestra of Janesville assisted by Prof. Allington of Freeport on xylophone. Prof. Allington showed great skill as a musician by being able to perform on piano violin, trap drums, and xylophone, this accessory to the orchestra seemed a great improvement. Dancing closed at one o'clock and the guests departed for their homes well satisfied with the evening's entertainment. The local order expects to give a series of three dances in the future to be held in the academy hall.

AMERICAN TO LEAD THE TURKISH FLEET

Ransford D. Bucknam (Bucknam Pasha).

— dispatch from Constantinople says Admiral Bucknam Pasha was recalled recently from London by the sultan and placed in command of the Turkish fleet in the Dardanelles, also that he planned the successful sortie against the Greeks at that point recently.

Ransford D. Bucknam, known to Turkey as Bucknam Pasha, has had a wonderful career. Born in 1876, he was 14 when he was shipped as cabin boy on a Great Lakes schooner. His life has been nothing but thrills since that time. He has been all over the world, and a few years ago was made a Turkish admiral with power to reorganize the whole navy.

JOHN MITCHELL TO SUCCEED KEEFE?

John Mitchell, the prominent labor leader, may soon be named as commissioner of immigration by President Taft. The present commissioner, Daniel J. Keefe, is so out of accord with his superiors that it is believed he will soon be asked to resign. John Mitchell and P. H. Larned, present assistant commissioner of immigration, are the two men most frequently mentioned for the place.

Putting the Garters On.
Mrs. Brown was preserving peaches in the kitchen amid an array of glass jars, covers, rubber bands, etc. Margaret, aged four, watched the process quietly until the fruit was in the jars and the covers ready, then she exclaimed, "Oh, mother, please let me put the garters on!"

Aphorisms of Lady Grant.
It is such a relief to "let go," as my aunt said when she gave up keeping a waist! Women find a man dull and uninteresting when he proposes to another woman. — "The Chequer Board," by Lady Sibyl Grant.

MINERS IN WEST VA. COAL FIELDS NOW THREATEN ANARCHY; TAKE DESPERATE MEASURES AS FAMILIES SUFFER FROM COLD

Top picture shows striking miners being led to court martial; Governor Glasscock (lower left), and striking miner's family.

There has been but little improvement in the situation in the West Virginia coal mining districts, where for several months a strike has been in progress. The striking miners are in desperate straits. In spite of the approach of winter many of them are still living in tents. A condition of anarchy would prevail were it not for the presence of the state troops.

Gov. Glasscock has done all in his power to bring miners and operators together, but without success. A number of miners have been sentenced by the military court to terms in the penitentiary.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

ALWAYS ROOM FOR REAL MEN.

The recent death of the Rev. Robert Collyer calls attention to a career that should be an inspiration to every poor boy and to every real man.

Robert Collyer was known as the "blacksmith preacher."

He was born in England of a very poor family. There were many children and an income pitifully meager. Robert when a small child was compelled to go to work in the mills with his brothers and sisters. He worked fourteen hours every day. Thus he had no chance for an education.

He came to America to better his condition. While still a young man he was a blacksmith in Pennsylvania. At the same time he preached for little or nothing on Sunday.

With muscular strength he had gained mental independence. He had learned to think for himself. He came to doubt some of the dogmas of his denomination and had the courage to say so. He therefore severed his connection with that church.

The same mental courage made his career. He again cut loose, this time from his livelihood, went to Chicago and started in a small church. Being vigorous and honest and having something to say, he drew other men to him. He became one of the most popular preachers in Chicago. He was a friend of Abraham Lincoln, who had as little education and as much mental independence as himself.

Later Robert Collyer preached in one of the leading churches of New York city. He was the author of many books and was known and loved in most civilized lands. At last he died full of years and honors.

One secret of his power was that he was always mentally honest with himself. Another was that he educated himself, making the world his university.

There are those who while in our day that the avenues of advancement are being closed to the young men.

Rubbish!

A young man like Robert Collyer would win in any age.

There never was a greater call than now for young men who can think, who find new and better ways of doing things, who have a real message. This is true in industry, in business, in literature, in politics and in religion. The world always has an open door for real men.

Prove and Know.

I pray you with all earnestness to prove, and know within your hearts, that all things are possible for those who believe in the possibilities and who determine that, for their part, they will make every day's work contribute to them.—John Ruskin.

ONE FUNERAL PLANNED FOR MOTHER AND SON

Services For Mrs. Jennie Rourke and Louis Rourke Will be Held Tomorrow Morning.

Funeral services for Mrs. Jennie Rourke, who was found dead in her home, corner of Pine and Ravine streets, yesterday morning, and her son, Louis Rourke, who died suddenly Wednesday evening, will be held at St. Patrick's church at nine o'clock tomorrow morning and interment will be made in Mt. Olivet cemetery. Mrs. Addie Kuhn, a daughter of Mrs. Rourke, arrived from Bloomington, Ill., today to make arrangements for the funeral of her mother and brother.

Mrs. Jennie Rourke was born in Janesville, Ohio, about seventy-seven years ago. While a young girl she moved to Watertown, this state, with her parents, and was married there to James T. Rourke. Three children were born to them, only one of whom survives, Mrs. Addie Kuhn of Bloomington, Ill. The family later moved to Fort Madison, Ia., where Mr. Rourke died. Soon after the death of her husband Mrs. Rourke moved with her children to this city where she has since made her home. Mrs. Rourke leaves two brothers, Dr. John Masterson of Watertown, and Edward Masterson, a lawyer in Chicago, and a son-in-law, Joseph Eau Claire, of this city.

LOCAL MEDICAL MEN TO MEET ON TUESDAY

Will Discuss Advisability of Inviting 1914 State Convention of Medical Society to Janesville.

On Tuesday evening next, a meeting of all physicians and surgeons in the city is called for eight o'clock at the city hall, when the question of inviting the 1914 annual session of the Wisconsin State Medical Society to meet in Janesville will be discussed and decided on. At the recent meeting of the Rock County Medical society, a committee consisting of Drs. Nuzum, Sutherland and Van Kirk was named to decide on the question of the invitation. Secretary Lane of the Commercial club will work in conjunction with the committee of the Doctors and it is probable that a formal invitation will be extended at the coming state meeting.

SECRETARY LANE SECURES A DECIDEDLY REDUCED RATING.

In place of a rate of 14 3/8 cent rate Secretary Lane of the Commercial Club has secured a special rate of 7 1/2 cents on hides shipped to Janesville from Kenosha.

APPLETON MUNICIPAL COURT SHOWS MANY CONVICTIONS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Appleton, Jan. 3.—The report of clerk of the court Abe Danielson shows that there were thirty-two more convictions in the municipal court of Outagamie county last year than in 1911. One of the big additions is in automobile crimes, there being thirty speeders who paid fines of $10 each.

Another Big Shipment of Those New Double Service House Dresses Is Here.

(South Room.)

They are the most practical and useful house dresses ever designed. What every woman knows about house dresses makes her eager to find something better than the usual garment. So cleverly constructed are these "Double Service" Dresses that they do duty both as apron and dress. No buttons or hooks and eyes, just two large snaps on the belt, as shown here, hold the entire garment in place. Two reversible fronts which give double service, both as to wear and soil. Easy to launder because the garment opens out flat, with no buttons or frills to bother, an important point.

Double Service House Dresses made on good quality basis, excellent percales and best of workmanship. Easy to put on and off, like a coat, no pulling over the head or slipping out of skirt; made Princess style, giving garment a neat and tidy appearance; also has pocket. A special feature—to change the waist line on these garments raise or lower the belt a trifle, a very simple operation. By moving the belt the garment may be made to fit perfectly, either short, medium or long waisted persons; cost no more than ordinary house dresses, but cheaper in the end because of their double service features. Come and see these "Double Service" House Dresses tried on; Prices are $1.25 and $1.50

CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN

by Barbara Boyd

Glimpsing Yourself

HERE is a good thought for the New Year time, is it not?

"If thou couldst in vision see
Thyself, the man God meant.
Thou never more wouldst be
The man thou art, content."

Did you ever try to see yourself—"the man God meant"?

Try making such a picture. It is interesting work, is it not? Then, place over against it, the man you are. Is there a big contrast, an unpleasant contrast? What has brought about the difference?

The picture we make of ourself as we imagine God meant us to be is largely the picture of ourself with our ideals realized, is it not? To be sure, some of us may not have very worthy ideals. And if this is the case, we will feel that there is a still finer man within us. For without doubt in each is the Voice that tells him what he may be, the illumination that shows him, if it is only a momentary glimpse, the good that is in him. For we are told that "There is a light that lighteth every man that cometh into the world." So that if we feel that our ideals are not altogether worthy, that there is something in us better yet than these, than in making this picture of the man God meant us to be, let us make it according to the very best that we see within.

And though we are drawing this picture just perhaps to fill an idle moment, or as an experiment, it is in reality no picture. It is indeed the man God did mean us to be. And were we this man, would we not be supremely happy. Is not this our road to true happiness?

And why instead of an idle imagining, can we not make this picture a reality? If this is the man God meant us to be, why cannot we be this man? The Infinite Mind does not plan things idly, nor suggest the impossible. If we were made to be this, we can be it. The fact that we glimpse it, that we see ourselves thus in thought points to the fact of accomplishing this ideal. Thought must always be the One that goes before. Thought is constructive; if we will let it be so. If we will follow where it leads, it will help us build.

So let us study this picture of ourself as the man God meant us to be, study all its smallest details, and then begin to build ourself over on this model. Begin first with some little thing, perhaps the ridding of ourself of impatience. And let us tear out the impatient part of ourself and build in calmness and sweetness and serenity. And if we take a long look at time and life and the purpose of it, we can do this. For when we think upon eternity and soul-growth, the little annoyances of every day lose all their sting and irritation.

And thus we can go on through the things we need, to make us the man God meant us to be. And sometime when we again see the vision, there may not be such a contrast between what we might be and what we are.

For why should we be content with less than the best, when the best can be ours?

Barbara Boyd.

greater, their arrangement seems nearly perfect for keeping food sweet and making ice last.

Quickly close the lid of the ice chamber when fresh ice is put in, but open the lower doors until the ice begins to melt, then shut tight.

Refrigeration should not be defeated by wrapping ice in blankets or newspapers. Keep the refrigerator thoroughly chilled and the ice itself does not have a chance to melt.

Sanitary refrigerators provide a current of dry, cold air, open doors only when necessary and shut tight as soon as possible.

The food should never be put in the refrigerator while warm as this is the cause of much refrigerator trouble in keeping cooked foods.

Under no conditions allow cheese a place in the ice box. Its strong odor will be absorbed by other foods, no matter how good the construction of the box, unless under cover.

Ventilation is secured in a good refrigerator on the principle that heated air rises; as the air over the ice box is chilled it passes downward, surrounds the food compartments, rises as it becomes heated and finds its way out, making a rapid and continuous current.

When ants get into the refrigerator a saucer of tartar emetic mixed with sugar and water will drive them away. Some are successful scouring shelves with hot water and borax, dry in the sun, sprinkle thickly with dry borax.

Extra precautions to prevent the ice from melting are not economical; ice must melt in order that the desired temperature may be reached.

Your refrigerator will respond to intelligent care as quickly as the range or furnace.

Zealous, unremitting attention to the details of cleanliness seems to be the price one must pay for an indispensable convenience, the refrigerator.

The KITCHEN CABINET

THE happiness of any home can be murdered by any two people in it, each determined to have his or her own way. Riches or poverty, position or obscurity, have nothing to do with it. Home happiness is based on selfishness and sympathy and forbearance—or else not built at all, but scattered in ruins.

A DISH OF MUTTON.

Mutton is a meat which is not used as much in this country as in England. Perhaps one reason is because it is not always to be bought, and another, we do not know how to cook it as do the cooks of the British Isles.

As Thackeray says, a smoking, juicy piece of mutton, no better meat can there be.

Mutton With Carrots and Peas.—Have a piece of mutton cut from the shoulder, three or four pounds, according to the size of the family to be served. Cook it in simmering water until nearly done, add a half dozen carrots cut in matchlike strips. When these are tender, add a can of green peas and serve the meat with the carrots and peas around it.

Cold roast or boiled mutton makes good hash. Season with pepper, salt and a few chopped capers or sour pickles.

Mutton chops served in the following manner are not common: Dip the seasoned chops in melted butter, then in dry bread crumbs and broil eight to ten minutes.

Scotch Broth.—Wipe three pounds of mutton, cut from the fore quarter, cut the lean meat into one-inch cubes, put in a kettle, cover with three pints of cold water, bring quickly to the boiling point, skim and add a half cup of barley which has been soaked in cold water over night; simmer one and a half hours or until the meat is tender. Put the bones in a second kettle, cover with cold water, heat slowly, skim and cook one and a half hours. Strain the water from the bones and add to the meat. Fry five minutes in two tablespoonsful of butter, a fourth cut each of carrot, onion, turnip and celery cut in half-inch pieces. Add to the soup with salt and pepper to taste and cook until the vegetables are soft. Thicken with two tablespoonsful each of butter and flour cooked together. Add a half tablespoonful of chopped parsley just before serving. Rice may take the place of barley.

Never allow an ice box to be washed by simply pouring hot, soapy water through it; ordinary soap should never be used in a refrigerator. Scouring soap and alkalis for zinc or metal and alkalis for porcelain linings are permissible.

Only eternal vigilance will keep the most expensive variety in a sanitary condition, and with such care the cheapest grade may be satisfactory from the standpoint of health.

Porcelain-lined refrigerators can be washed as easily as china, and while the first cost of such a box may be higher, their arrangement seems nearly perfect for keeping food sweet and making ice last.

Quickly close the lid of the ice chamber when fresh ice is put in, but open the lower doors until the ice begins to melt, then shut tight.

Refrigeration should not be defeated by wrapping ice in blankets or newspapers. Keep the refrigerator thoroughly chilled and the ice itself does not have a chance to melt.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

ON LENGTH OF DAYS.

THE other day I chanced to come into conversation with a man who is nearly ninety years old. And if it were by the exercise of some rare virtue or wisdom that he had attained that age, he could not be any prouder than he is.

He is not a man who has accomplished anything in the world; he is distinctly narrow and unintelligent and of a very crabbed disposition. The years have neither mellowed him nor given him wisdom. He is a stupid pupil in the school of life, "well birthed and none the wiser." Moreover he is very sickly and only prolongs his existence by the exercise of all kinds of precautions. And yet he thinks his ninety years something to be tremendously proud of!

What queer folks we mortals are! What strange things we select to be proud of! Why I know a young woman of twenty-five who is actually proud of the fact that she is incapable of doing the simplest household task. I know another girl who takes infinite pride in the fact that she can't bear to eat cream with a spoon but must have a fork. And then there's a man who plumes himself on the fact that he can find evil in anyone and, but there, if I keep this up I shan't have any space left for my original subject.

To return to the main road: Length of life is a blessing, the Bible says so. But how can anyone in his senses think it is to be compared with depth of life? There is a woman between seventy and eighty in our neighborhood who has prolonged a life of nervous life and by sipping the very life blood of the rest of the family. Surely this woman would have had a better score to present to the Almighty Storekeeper if she had really lived, even if by so doing she has shortened her years by half. Surely her long life is not to be compared with the few packed years of a young man who recently died at the age of thirty after having educated his two sisters, placed his father and mother in a position of financial comfort for the rest of their lives, enjoyed several deep friendships, seen considerable of the world and influenced many lives for the better.

If he had not lived so deeply he might have lived longer. Yes, and perhaps Beethoven or Shakespeare might have lived to be old men if they had husbanded their vitality and not poured it out into their work.

But surely no one wishes they had done that. Whether a man's life is long or short is a matter of comparatively small importance. A hundred years or thirty are mighty near the same when ranged side of infinity.

But whether a man's life is deep and wide and vital does count. "Tis not the passing of the days
Nor yet the hours we've told,
But what we've DONE of good or ill
That makes us young or old."

Dear Mrs. Thompson: When a boy takes a girl home for the first time, what should she say when leaving him?

SMILES.

She should thank him for his escort and ask him if he would like to come into the house for a little while. Provide it is not too late at night and that others of the family are at home.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am young and motherless and make my home with a married sister. Am fond of good times. My sister and brother object to my having company at their home.

(1)—Would you leave home? (2)—Is it right for me to go walking and to show with young men against their wishes. (3)—What can I do to make them like my girl friends? (4)—Is there any harm to make dates with a married man who says he doesn't live with his wife?

DISCOURAGED.

(1)—Not if you can help it. Your sister and brother are a great protection to you. Try to be a pleasant inmate of their home. (2)—If you are very young you should heed their wishes. If you are over 18 and sure that you have common sense enough to go only with thoroughly respectable men, there is no harm in an occasional walk or going to a show with a man. (3)—Choose only the very nicest girls for friends. (4)—My dear, I am surprised that you ask such a question! You must be very young indeed. Every married man says that when he wants to bamboozle some girl. He has no idea of giving up his wife for a cheap girl who will run around with him when she knows that he is married.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—When a young man asks for your company home and you don't want it, what is the best way to refuse without hard feelings? (2)—How can I make my eyebrows grow thick? (3)—If a girl keeps steady company with a young gentleman, is it right to let other fellows come home with her?

BLONDIE.

(1)—Thank him very nicely, but tell him you have already promised somebody else.

(2)—Rub yellow vaseline into the roots.

(3)—If "keeping steady company" means that you are engaged to marry the man, it would not be just right to make a practice of letting other men take your home if it can be avoided. If you are not engaged to him, you are quite free to go with others.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a boy friend whom I dare say admires me. We have had several dates, but he seems to think that I do not make enough of him by not asking him to call at my home and I feel that if he cares enough for me he would ask my permission to call. There always seems to be some misunderstanding between us. I think a great deal of him—have known him two years. Please advise me.

PERPLEXED ETNA.

You should have asked him to call upon you in your home long ago. It is your return for his courtesies in taking you out. Besides, every respectable young man expects to meet a girl in her home.

Girls often think a man doesn't show his love because he is bashful, when the truth is that the man only has a friendly feeling and doesn't want to marry the girl at all. Suspected bashfulness is not enough excuse for a girl to make all the advances.

A stubborn man isn't easy to get along with; but if you are willing to put up with it, he may be all right otherwise.

TO TOUR ILLINOIS FOR SUFFRAGE CAUSE

Mrs. Grace W. Trout.

Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, the new president of the Illinois equal suffrage association, plans a complete tour of her state, to begin early in January, in the interest of the suffrage cause. She is counting on the suffragists throughout the state to make her tour a successful one.

"Facts always convince, and prejudice against woman suffrage is found only where they do not know the facts," says Mrs. Trout. "It is our duty to show those facts to the voters and to the women and citizens at large, which is the fundamental reason of my tour of the state."

Reason for Superiority.

The domestication of animals and the utilization of plants does not go very far except under a civilized people. Contrast the ages of Peru and Mexico with that of Egypt, Babylonia and China; and one reason for old-world superiority in the mastery of nature is plain.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

The Table.

Delicious Apple Pie—Pare three good-size apples and cut in quarters. Make syrup of one cup sugar and 1-1/2 cups water, a little cinnamon and but- ter the size of hazelnut. Let this boil for a few minutes, then put in apples and simmer until you can pick them from a straw, then lift them from the syrup with a strainer and place apples in a baked crust. Whip cream (if cream is too expensive, the whites of two eggs may be beaten) and spread over the apples. Grate two almonds over the meringue, sprinkle with a little sugar and place in oven to brown.

Apple Custard Pie—Grate three or four apples, according to size, add yolks of two eggs (saving the whites for the meringue) half cup sugar, two tablespoons cream and nutmeg to suit taste. When done, cover with meringue made from the whites of the eggs. Put in oven and let brown.

Quick Freezing—To make quick, cheap and nice frosting, take one-third cup sweet cream, stir into it enough brown sugar to have it entirely stiff, then put into a kettle and let it come to a boil; take off and beat till it is thick enough to put on cake. If you want chocolate frosting, add some chocolate before it comes to a boil. Gets nice and hard.

WHY DINING CAR CHEFS PREFER

KC BAKING POWDER

Those who have had cakes ruined by jarring the stove, slamming the oven door or a heavy footstep, may have wondered how the dining car chef can turn out such marvelous biscuits, hot breads and pastry when his oven is being incessantly jarred and jolted and shaken by the motion of the train.

To get pastry to raise and stay raised under these conditions, a baking powder must be used that continues to give off its leavening gas—that sustains the raise—until the dough is baked through.

Dining Car Chefs have found a baking powder exactly suited to their needs in K C and you will find it just as well suited to your requirements. K C is really a blend of two baking powders, one active as soon as moistened, the other requiring both moisture and heat to start the generation of leavening gas. No matter how moist and rich you make your cake, K C Baking Powder will sustain the raise until a crust is formed and all danger of falling is past.

K C Baking Powder is pure and healthful. It is guaranteed under all pure food laws, and is guaranteed to please you. And it is sold at a reasonable price—no baking powder should sell for more.

Domestic Science DEPARTMENT

CONDUCTED BY Mrs. Alice Gitchell Kirk capacity of your refrigerator all the time; otherwise with a little added every day or every other day, the temperature will never be very low and things will not keep as well.

Food should be carefully looked over, and so far as possible placed in covered dishes before going into the ice box.

Germs are good friends of an illkept ice box and must be continually fought.

Hot salt-soda water and soda is ideal for the weekly scalding.

Ice should be rinsed and carefully placed in the ice chamber; water in bottle may be placed here.

Joints and hinges must be strong and reliable; a loosely hung door is responsible for much waste of ice.

Keep butter and milk covered on the topmost shelf, that they may have no opportunity to absorb odors.

Linings of porcelain or enamel are the best, such surfaces are smooth, easily kept clean and do not absorb colors.

Manufacturers have succeeded in obtaining all-light, well ventilated construction, it remains for the housekeepers to see that there are no careless leakages.

Never allow an ice box to be washed by simply pouring hot, soapy water through it; ordinary soap should never be used in a refrigerator. Scouring soap and alkalis for zinc or metal and alkalis for porcelain linings are permissible.

Only eternal vigilance will keep the most expensive variety in a sanitary condition, and with such care the cheapest grade may be satisfactory from the standpoint of health.

Porcelain-lined refrigerators can be washed as easily as china, and while the first cost of such a box may be higher, their arrangement seems nearly perfect for keeping food sweet and making ice last.

Quickly close the lid of the ice chamber when fresh ice is put in, but open the lower doors until the ice begins to melt, then shut tight.

Refrigeration should not be defeated by wrapping ice in blankets or newspapers. Keep the refrigerator thoroughly chilled and the ice itself does not have a chance to melt.

Sanitary refrigerators provide a current of dry, cold air, open doors only when necessary and shut tight as soon as possible.

The food should never be put in the refrigerator while warm as this is the cause of much refrigerator trouble in keeping cooked foods.

Under no conditions allow cheese a place in the ice box. Its strong odor will be absorbed by other foods, no matter how good the construction of the box, unless under cover.

Ventilation is secured in a good refrigerator on the principle that heated air rises; as the air over the ice box is chilled it passes downward, surrounds the food compartments, rises as it becomes heated and finds its way out, making a rapid and continuous current.

When ants get into the refrigerator a saucer of tartar emetic mixed with sugar and water will drive them away. Some are successful scouring shelves with hot water and borax, dry in the sun, sprinkle thickly with dry borax.

Extra precautions to prevent the ice from melting are not economical; ice must melt in order that the desired temperature may be reached.

Your refrigerator will respond to intelligent care as quickly as the range or furnace.

Zealous, unremitting attention to the details of cleanliness seems to be the price one must pay for an indispensable convenience, the refrigerator.

And thus we can go on through the things we need, to make us the man God meant us to be. And sometime when we again see the vision, there may not be such a contrast between what we might be and what we are.

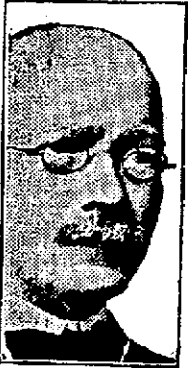

For why should we be content with less than the best, when the best can be ours?

The Man To Be Pitied

By REV. J. H. RALSTON,
Secretary of Correspondence Department,
Mealy Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—1 Cor. 15:19—"If we have only hoped in Christ in this life, we are of all men most pitiable." (Revised Version.)

A prominent pastor in Chicago recently said that he was troubled because in these days Jesus is so popular, Christian, Jew, Socialist, political reformers, and promoters of almost all religious cults, constantly sing his praises. On the face of it this looks to be greatly to the credit of Jesus, but the text announced (and it does not stand alone as to the sentiment expressed) calls a halt and asks for serious thinking. Hope in Christ is the thing under consideration, hope for the individual through the influence or mediation of Christ. The word hope, expressing even an abstract idea, lures us, and rightly so. There is nothing that sustains man better than hope, and Christian hope is well put into the category with faith and love, as forming the great trio of Christian graces. In view of this hope in Christ what expectation of relief and rescue from disaster, and what positive assurance of satisfying happiness may we have?

But it is the step forward that brings us to the place of more serious thought, even of deep concern—"If we have only hoped in Christ in this life," bringing before us the place of realization of our hope in Christ. If those hopes end in this life, we are of all men most pitiable. The heart of the pastor referred to was moved because he realized that in these degenerate days, as far as real religious thinking is concerned, the hopes in Christ are those that are to be realized in life quite exclusively. What does a man get in Christ? The popular answer is: amelioration of sad social conditions, better prospects for success in the vocations in life, respectability, and easy life experiences. Jesus is held up as one to be patterned after with respect to purity of conduct, as one uttering easy things such as the beatitudes and the golden rule in the Sermon on the Mount, yet without any reference to the context. This is even done in the propaganda of some of the modern religious movements that have been heavily financed and have been prosecuted with wide and extensive advertising, banquets, and with mutual admiration of those participating regardless of their adherence to "the faith that was once for all delivered to the saints." In such propaganda there is practically nothing said about anything that accrues to men beyond this life, it being considered almost an insult to modern culture to intimate that men and women need anything that is suggested by the sufferings at Calvary, or the opening tomb.

Probably few would reject the proposition that the gospel must be preached, but how far from the gospel as suggested in 1 Corinthians 15:3, 4, is much that is now called the gospel! As to following Christ in this life, where is the promise that the undertaking will be one of ease and comfort? Those who know the Bible do not forget that the yoke of Christ is easy and his burden is light, but they do not see that in any sense there is a modification in this fact of the life-fare of those who follow Jesus—suspicion, poverty, sneers, persecutions, and even death itself. That the Christian has in this life more than enough to satisfy him as to his hopes in Christ is readily admitted, but it is not in this life that those hopes are to be chiefly realized. A casual reading of the fifteenth chapter of First Corinthians shows that the great subject of Paul in that chapter was the resurrection of the Christian from the dead, the future clothing of this mortal body with immortality—that is the object of the Christian's hope in Christ.

We note that Paul says that those who have hoped in Christ only in this life are most pitiable. The enemy of their souls has deceived them into believing that religion is for this life only, and they grasp it for such life benefits, when as a matter of fact before the Christian is held the glorious certainty of resurrection from the dead with a body that is incorruptible, spiritual, powerful, glorious and heavenly. Man is to be pitied because he lacks good judgment in choosing that which is inferior rather than choosing that which is infinitely superior, and which is offered to him gratuitously.

Units. I have always supposed that a man's life is a unit and that it must be judged not in spots, or in parcels, or in sections, but as a whole.—Rev. R. T. Corie, Presbyterian, Denver.

Facts. The man who deals with facts is beginning to see that religion is the ultimate and fundamental fact.—Rev. N. Boynton, Congregationalist, Brooklyn.

Room for Many More. Labrador has an area of 200,000 square miles, but a population of only 4,000.

Convincing. "Do you love me, Esmeralda?" "Of course I love you. Since I became acquainted with you I have really gotten to admire pop eyes."

Natural Presumption. Chauffeur—"Didn't you hear me blowing my horn?" Victim—"Yes; but I thought perhaps you were a candidate for the presidency."

Dollar Bills Lead All. There are more one dollar bills in circulation in this country than any other denomination. The five-dollar bill is next in number.

Woman's First Industrial Venture. It was in the manufacture of textiles that woman first appeared in industry outside of the home.

United States Ranks Tenth. In the production of rice and coffee the United States ranks tenth, compared with other countries of the world.

Lillian Russell
has for years been renowned for her unparalleled beauty and charm. She tells women Sunday Tribune readers how best to care for their looks. Each contribution from Miss Russell is a gem in itself, and the fact that her mail averages over 1,000 pieces a week shows her advice is needed and appreciated.

Marion Harland
is the dean of all American women writers on all household topics. She is a success, because she is a woman "who knows." Here is the one name that counts for confidence with the most conservative type of women. If you are in doubt regarding any household problem write to Marion Harland and she will gladly help you to solve it. Her years of experience give her writings an authority that make them invaluable.

Laura Jean Libbey gives sane and sensible advice on problems that even trivial to nearly every one but the persons who have them to solve. More than 5,000 copies of her books have been sold, and she receives 600 letters a week from Tribune readers. Many of them are answered through the columns of The Sunday Tribune and personally when warranted envelopes are inclosed.

Georgene Faulkner known as the "Story Lady," is in charge of the children's department of The Chicago Sunday Tribune. Miss Faulkner tells the most delightful stories for grown-up children as well as for the wee babies. Miss Faulkner knows and understands children as does no other woman in Chicago, and she makes her competent to advise mothers and teachers how to handle children.

Jane Eddington
is the one writer who can make cooking recipes interesting reading without sacrificing any portion of their practical value. Miss Eddington's articles are a feature of The Chicago Sunday Tribune. Her recipes are original, inexpensive, and delicious, and her advice is willingly given to Sunday Tribune readers seeking it.

Elizabeth Van Rensselaer belongs to one of America's most exclusive families. Her advice on problems of etiquette is eagerly sought by readers of The Chicago Sunday Tribune. There are fashions in manners, just as in clothes, and Miss Van Rensselaer's articles each Sunday will keep you abreast of the many delicate details that are the hallmarks of good breeding.

Mary Eleanor O'Donnell has done much to show people how to reduce the high cost of living. The information appearing in her department in The Chicago Sunday Tribune each week is acquiring great interest. Many practical hints are printed, and hundreds of letters are received each week from those who appreciate the value and seek the aid of this department.

Sally Joy Brown conducts a department headed "How to Earn Money at Home." Practical advice is given by her to the women readers of The Chicago Sunday Tribune, enabling them to make suitable things in their own homes and showing how best to market such products profitably. Over 375 letters weekly are received by Sally Joy Brown asking for advice and suggestions.

Alice Mason
is The Chicago Sunday Tribune's expert to deal with problems of the girls who are employed downtown. She is a woman of wide experience and of great sympathy, and is ready with the right advice for the business girl who needs it. If the business girl doesn't know what to do she should write to Alice Mason.

Mary Buel
through her article "Paris Fashions," enables women readers of The Chicago Sunday Tribune to have the benefit of not only the extreme and advance fashions but of the more practical styles as well. The styles in any of the fashion magazines are always at least three months behind. Miss Buel's fashions are strictly up to the minute.

The 1913 all-star cast pictured above proves The Chicago Sunday Tribune stands supreme—at the top of the list of the world's Sunday newspapers.

Never, since the first Sunday newspaper was printed, has there been gathered together so great a staff of star writers and artists.

These world-famous contributors are not, nor can they be, duplicated in prominence and achievement in any ten Sunday papers published on the American continent.

If each copy of The Chicago Sunday Tribune were made in a size to correspond with the standard magazines of today it would require and would be three times the size of the regular standard magazine.

Then, remember that The Chicago Sunday Tribune costs but 5 cents a copy, or less than one-tenth of what you pay for three magazines.

But, never did any ten magazines offer you such a galaxy of headlines. Look through the pages of the leading magazines and satisfy yourself on this point.

In addition to the contributions of this all-star cast of writers and artists in every issue of The Chicago Sunday Tribune, you get fifty to sixty feature articles by from fifty to sixty writers whose words are an admitted authority upon the themes on which they write; every item of interest worth printing from every spot on the globe—the cream of the world's doings, both in our own America and foreign lands, furnished by every reliable news-gathering agency known to modern newspaperdom.

For nearly 65 years The Chicago Tribune has been the ideal newspaper of newspaper makers and the discriminating EVERYWHERE.

BUY IT EVERY DAY AND SUNDAY TOO!

From the first page to the last The Chicago Sunday Tribune is perfectly printed from large, clear, easily-read type; its color work, of which there are many pages, is a beautiful example of rapid press work and the many striking half-tone and line drawings with which its columns are illustrated are surpassed by no paper published in the English language and are equaled by few.

John T. McCutcheon is the unchallenged sovereign of the world's cartoonists. With a few strokes of his pen Mr. McCutcheon puts before the public a great truth in a more effective form than can columns of printed pages. Never in the history of cartoons has there been his equal in the subtle work of peopling a mimic world on paper. He is the highest salaried cartoonist in the world.

Finley Peter Dunne author of the world-famous "Dooley" articles, which for years have been eagerly watched for by millions of newspaper readers, is now doing the best work of his life. As "Dooley" is the most popular feature in the newspaper world, so Mr. Dunne commands the largest price per article of any other writer. By all means don't miss "Dooley."

Herbert Kaufman
is the highest paid writer in America today, with the possible exception of Theodore Roosevelt. Mr. Kaufman has swept the country with the vital power of his pen. No other writer appeals so strongly to men of every class. Hundreds of the biggest men in America are extravagant in their praise of Mr. Kaufman's work.

Dr. W. A. Evans
is the best fitted man in the United States to educate the public on "How to Keep Well." Good health is the basis of all success, and this leading writer each Sunday for The Tribune writes an article on the prevention of disease, and answers in an extreme interesting way questions from Sunday Tribune readers pertaining to health and hygiene.

Hugh S. Fullerton is undoubtedly the world's highest authority on baseball. Mr. Fullerton's writings are pronounced by the nation's sportsmen to be the most accurate and prophetic on the national game are almost always correct. His column "In the Writer of the News" is worth its weight in gold to lovers of outdoor sports.

T. P. O'Connor
writes on European topics in general and has struck a popular chord through the sheer writing ability he possesses. Mr. O'Connor is putting as his keen Irish wit and his intimate knowledge of the big men and women into these Chicago Sunday Tribune articles. Every single article by the famous "Tay Tay" is sure to be relished and remembered.

Sidney Smith
is one of the funniest of the world's funny artists. His colored play serial, "Old Doc Yak," appearing in The Sunday Tribune, is more than a laugh—it's a roar. Mr. Smith's page alone is worth the price of admission. Don't miss it yourself, and don't forget that the kids take much joy in seeing the troubles of "Old Doc Yak."

I. E. Sanborn is counted a star baseball writer, and his fame covers the country. It is said that he knows personally every player of importance in the league. The star players would rather read his writings than those of any other authority on the national game. Sanborn appears every day in The Tribune, and on Sunday, too. Fans cannot afford to miss his Sunday articles.

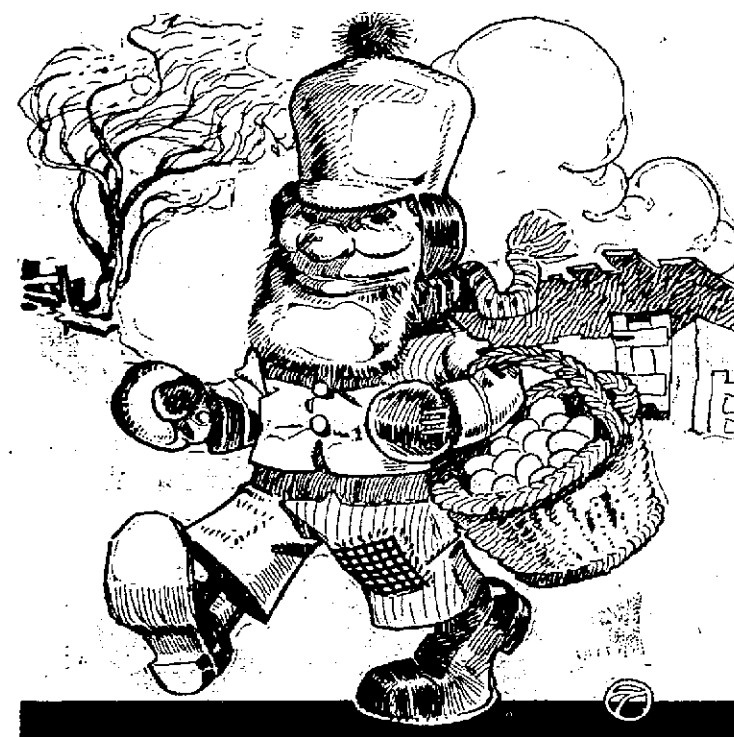

C. A. Briggs
is justly famed throughout the country for his brilliant work in illustrating for The Chicago Sunday Tribune articles relating to sports and outdoor life. His "Days of Real Sport" series takes us back to the barefoot and breeched days of the pioneer. He does so well. You should not let one of these famous series slip by.

F. O. King
is one of the geniuses of the cartoon world. Mr. King's drawings are largely of a satirical nature; every one of which brings home a strong point in a way that is likely to be long remembered. He has a style absolutely his very own, and he fairly bubbles over with bright ideas. There's a laugh in every one of his pictures.

THE DAILY NOVELLETTE

BENEATH THE CORNS

The great detective carefully put his violin, upon which he had been playing mournful strains, in the tobacco jar and called sharply, "Come in!"

A woman, stout, faultlessly attired and rather well dressed, flung open the door and stepped inside.
"How did you know I was outside?" she asked in wonder.

"I heard you knock," he replied briefly.

"Wonderful!" she breathed. He smiled contently. And, truly, it was nothing for him!

"I came," she exclaimed excitedly, yet with slight pauses between her sentences, "because I don't understand it. There were three dozen bottles of it—the best champagne that ever came out of Paris. Every bottle was corked, and it was so dry that we could scarcely bear the monotony of having it around."

"Well?" queried the great detective. With his well-known intuition, he knew that something else was coming.

"It disappeared!"

"Ah!"

"You may well say 'Ah.' There is no accounting for it—none. If I kept servants I would blame it of them. And to add to the mystery and aggravation, my husband disappeared at the same time I missed the champagne."

"Would you mind giving me a minute description of your husband?" said the great detective softly, trying to disguise the fact that he was unusually excited.

She did so. He jotted it all down on his cuff.

"Thanks!" he said. And, licking his lips in anticipation, he sprang down the steps, thirteen at a time, leaving his bewildered client sitting in his office.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Vexation and annoyance will come to you, and your health will need good care. If you are able to see through the tangles to the main purpose you will turn the year to good account.

Those born today will have strong characters and will be tireless in the acquiring of knowledge. They should be taught to temper their energy with consideration for others, for they will be inclined to run to extremes and to lose friendships and influence thereby.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Under the Circumstances it's hard to blame Father.

MUSTEROLE Recommended by Doctors and Nurses

MUSTEROLE, the clean, white ointment which takes the place of the mustard plaster, is frankly recommended by doctors and nurses. It is used in large hospitals. Ask your doctor.

It does everything a mustard plaster will do—does it better—and does not blister the tenderest skin.

Quick relief for Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsillitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Headache, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chills, Frosted Feet, Cold on the Chest. (It prevents pneumonia.) Nothing like MUSTEROLE for croupy children.

At your druggist's in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Accept no substitute. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25c or 50c to the Musterole Company, Cleveland, O., and we will mail you a jar, postage prepaid.

"My physician tells me I should keep Musterole on hand all the time for Fluency," says Mary A. Fisher, Martinsville, Clinton Co., O.

"I used Musterole first while acting as head nurse at Huron Street Hospital. It helped me when I had a rheumatic pain, also a severe cold on my chest."—E. Weaver, Graduate Consultant General Hospital, Cincinnati, O.

Constipation

Impossible to be well. The foe to good health. Correct at once. Ayer's Pills. One at bedtime. Sold for 60 years. Ask Your Doctor.

Finest Crop of All.

"No country, after all, produces any better crop than its inhabitants. And as I travel onward I like to think of these brave, temperate, industrious, God-fearing American people. I have no fear of the country while so many of them are still to be found upon the farms and in the towns of this land."—American Magazine.

Courage and Nerve.

Courage is the thing which enables a man to tackle a hard task with ease. Nerve is the thing which enables him to tackle it when he's scared to death.—Dr. Push.

ADV.

MOLLY McDONALD A TALE OF THE FRONTIER

By RANDALL PARRISH Author of "Keith of the Border," "My Lady of Doubt," "My Lady of the South," etc. etc. Illustrations by J. L. Barnes

COPYRIGHT 1912 BY A.C. MCCLURG & CO.

"They carry it altogether too far," she said. "I have often thought that—mostly the young officers, the West Pointers—and yet you know that the majority of enlisted men are—well, dragged from the slums. My father says it has been impossible to recruit a good class since the war closed, that the right kind had all the army they wanted."

"Which is true enough, but there are good men nevertheless, and every commander knows it. A little considerate treatment would make them better still."

She shook her head questioning. "I do not know," she admitted. "I suppose there are two viewpoints. You were in the volunteers, you said. Why did you enlist in the regulars?"

"Largely because I liked soldiering, or thought I did. I knew there would be plenty of fighting out here, and I believed, advancement."

"You mean to a commission?" "Yes. You see, I did not understand then the impossibility, the great gulf fixed. I dreamed that good fortune might give me something to do worth while."

"And fate has been unkind?" "In a way, yes," and he laughed, rather grimly. "I had my chance—twice; honorable mention, and all that, but that ended it. There is no bridge across the chasm. An enlisted man is not held fit for any higher position; if that was not sufficient to bar me, the fact that I had fought for the South would."

"You were in the Confederate army? You must have been very young."

"Oh, no; little more than a boy, of course, but so were the majority of my comrades. I was in my senior college year when the war broke out. But, Miss McDonald, this will never do! See how light it is growing. There, they have begun firing already. We must get back out of sight behind the sand-dunes."

CHAPTER X.

The Ripening of Acquaintance. They needed to retire but a few steps to be entirely concealed, yet so situated as to command a view across the muddy stream. The sun had not risen above the horizon, but the gray dawn gave misty revelation of the sluggish-flowing river, the brown slope opposite, and the darker shadow of bluffs beyond. The popping of those distant guns had ceased by the time they attained their new position, and they could distinguish the Indians—mere black dots against the brown slope—advancing in a semicircle toward the silent stage. Evidently they were puzzled, fearful of some trickery, for occasionally a gun would crack viciously, the advancing savages halting to observe the effect. Then a bright colored blanket was waved aloft as though in signal, and the entire body, converging toward the deserted coach, leaped forward with a wild yell, which echoed faintly across the water.

The girl hid her face in the sand, with a half-stifled sob, but the Sergeant watched grimly, his eyes barely above the ridge. What would they do when they discovered the dead bodies?—when they realized that others had eluded their vigilance during the night? Would they be able to trace them, or would his ruse succeed? Of course their savage cunning would track them as far as the river—there was no way in which he could have successfully concealed the trail made down the gully, or the marks left on the sandy bank. But would they imagine he had dared to cross the broad stream, burdened with the girl, confronting almost certain death in the quicksand? Would they not believe rather that he had waded along the water's edge headed west, hoping thus to escape to the bluffs, where some hiding-place might be found? Even if they suspected a crossing, would any warriors among them be reckless enough to follow? Would they not be more apt to believe that both fugitives ern Indians, and must have broken through the scouting details sent out from Wallace and Dodge. Some of the boys are bound to be after them, and there is more chance for them to get back safely along the mountains than in the other direction. I don't suppose an Indian in the bunch was ever south of the Arkansas. Wait! Those fellows are going to move now; going for good, too—they are taking the dead Indians with them."

They were little more than black dots at that distance, yet the sun was up by this time, and his keen vision could distinguish every movement. "Creep up here, and you can see also," he said quietly. "They are far enough away now so that it is safe."

There was a moment of breathless quiet, the two fugitives peering cautiously over the sand ridge. To the girl it was a confusion of figures rushing back and forth about the smoking ruins of the stage; occasionally a faint yell echoed across the river, and she could distinguish a savage on his pony galloping as he rode back and forth. But the Sergeant comprehended the scene. His eyes met hers and read her bewilderment.

"They are going all right, and in a hurry. It's plain enough they are afraid to stay there any longer. See, they are lashing bodies on to the ponies. Ah, that is what I wanted to be sure about—that fellow is heading west on the trail; now the others are moving."

"Then you are sure Roman Nose will not return? That—that we are safe?" "Yes; I wouldn't hesitate to go back as soon as the last of them disappear over the ridge," pointing up the river. "They knew they had to go that way. Roman Nose and his band hoped we'd taken that direction, and hurried on ahead to catch us if he could: They are afraid to stay about here any longer. Look how they are lashing those ponies; there, the last of them are leaving."

They lay there in the sand, already becoming warm under the rays of the sun, trying to assure themselves that all danger of discovery had vanished. There was no movement on the opposite shore, only the blue spiral of smoke curling up against the bluff, marking where the stage had stood. About this, outlined upon the brown grass, appeared darker patches representing dead ponies and the bodies of Moylan and Gonzales, where they had been tumbled, scalped and otherwise mutilated. Down by the river a wounded pony tried to follow the disappearing cavalcade, but fell, giving vent to one scream of agony. Then all was silent, motionless, the last straggler clubbing his horse pitilessly as he vanished over the ridge.

Hamlin sat up, his eyes smiling. "We are the lucky ones, Miss McDonald," he said, his manner unconsciously more formal now that the danger had passed and a swift realization of who his companion was recurring to his mind. "Something must have frightened them." He shaded his eyes, staring at the bluffs opposite. "But, there is nothing in sight from here. Well, the best thing we can do is to eat breakfast. May I have the haversack, and see what it is stocked with?"

"Certainly not. There is so little I can do, I do not propose yielding any prerogative." And she drew her head through the strap, letting the leather bag fall to the sand. "I am afraid there is no cloth here. Would you dare light a fire?"

"Hardly, even if we had fuel," he answered, watching her with interest. She glanced up into his face, her cheeks reddening. "Why don't you want me to do this?"

"How do you know I object? Indeed, it is quite pleasant to be waited upon. Only, you see, it is very unusual for an officer's daughter to take such good care of an enlisted man."

"But I am not thinking of that at all. You—this is different."

"For the moment, perhaps," just a slight bitterness in his tone, "and I should enjoy it while I can."

She stopped in her work, sitting straight before him. Her eyes were indignant, yet she stifled the first words that leaped to her lips. His soft hat lay on the sand and the sun revealed his tanned face, bringing out its strength.

"You—shouldn't say that," she faltered. "Surely you do not believe I will ever become ungrateful."

"No; and yet, gratitude is not altogether satisfactory." He hesitated. "It is hard to explain just what I mean to you, for you do not realize the life we lead out here—the loneliness of it. Even a man in the ranks may possess the desires of a human being. I—well, I'm hungry for the companionship of a good woman. Don't misunderstand, Miss McDonald. I am not presuming, nor taking advantage of the accident which has placed us in this peculiar position, but I have been a trooper out here now a long while, stationed at little isolated frontier posts, riding the great plains, doing the little routine duties of soldiering. I haven't spoken to a decent woman on terms of social equality for two years; I've looked at a few from a distance and taken orders from them. But they have glanced through me as though I were something inanimate instead of a man. I saved an officer's life once down there," and he pointed into the southeast, "and his wife thanked me as though it were a disagreeable duty. I reckon you don't understand, but I don't like the word gratitude."

"But I do understand," and she stretched out her hand to him across the opened haversack. "I'm not so dull, and it must be awful to feel alone like that. I told you—I liked you, and—I do. Now remember that, please, and be good. From now on I am not Major McDonald's daughter, not even Miss McDonald—I'm just Molly McDonald."

The gray eyes laughed. "You are assuming a great risk." "I don't believe it," her forehead wrinkling a little, but her eyes bright. "You and I can be friends—can't we?"

"(To be continued.)"

"I would be a Fool to Hope; I Have Been in the Army Too Long."

skin trouble of the worst kind

ST. LOUIS, MO., October 22, 1912. "I suffered awfully with skin trouble of the worst kind for about three months. My face was so red and itchy that it was impossible to stand it any longer. I wasn't able to even rest at night, it used to get me so nervous that I wasn't able to speak to anybody."

Resinol cured her. "I tried several other remedies in vain, until I noticed the advertisement of Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. I sent for samples and they helped me wonderfully. I noticed a change right away. I used Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment for about three months, and then I was cured completely." (Signed) Miss A. Saltzman, 1142N. Jefferson Ave.

For over 17 years Resinol has been a doctor's prescription and household remedy for skin troubles, pimples, burns, sores, piles, etc. Resinol Ointment (50c) and Resinol Soap (25c) sold by all druggists. For sample of each, write to Dept. 14-A, Resinol Chem. Co., Baltimore, Md. Try Resinol for chapped hands.

"Every Little Olive Tablet Has a Movement All Its Own."

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Olive tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities.

HOW OLD YOU LOOK

Worn; and All Tired Out—It Is Not Necessary.

You act as though you just wondered how you are going to get through the rest of the winter and do your work.

You may be overworked or have had a bad cold which has left you without strength, ambition or much interest in life; in fact you are all run-down. Let us tell you that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, is just the remedy you need to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength.

A prominent Boston lawyer says: "My mother, who is 76 years of age, owes her good health to Vinol as since taking it she can walk farther and do more than she has for years. I consider it a wonderful blood making and strength creating tonic."

We have such faith in Vinol that if it does not quickly build you up, restore your strength and make you feel well again, we will return your money. Try Vinol on our guarantee. Smith Drug Co., Jansville, Wis.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS

The Creation. Gen. 1:1-11:3. Golden Text—In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. Gen. 1:1.

(1) Verses 1-2—What certain evidence have we, other than the Bible, that the world had a beginning?

(2) Granted that the world had a beginning, what can you say for its origin other than it must have had an intelligent creator? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(3) What is the evidence that the earth is of the nature of a growth or a development from one stage to another?

(4) After the earth was once organized in a crude form did God complete it by direct acts or was it developed from its own, God-created, inherent laws?

(5) Verses 3-5—Would you say or not, and why, that there was no light in God's universe until after the earth was created?

(6) What would the earth have been if there had been no light?

(7) What is it that makes our day and night?

(8) Suppose it should prove to be a fact that the sun, our only source of light, was in existence millions of years before the creation of our earth how would that affect the credibility of this story in Genesis?

(9) Verses 6-8—What is the original element without air pressure out of which water is formed?

(10) If the word "firmament" here used may practically be taken to mean the air space around the earth show how these verses harmonize with science.

(11) In how many places and in what different conditions is water to be found?

(12) Verses 9-10—From this statement and from the story of geology what method did God take to form the earth and the sea?

(13) When God through the convulsions of the earth forms the mountains, the valleys and the great depths which contain the water we call seas is it right to ascribe the work direct to God? Why?

(14) Verses 11-13—What is the evidence that there was a time when the earth did not produce vegetation?

(15) How can you account for the marvelous fact other than through an intelligent Creator that all vegetable seed has in itself the life principle of self propagation?

(16) Verses 14-19—What makes our seasons, days and years?

(17) Does it necessarily follow in order to the accuracy of this story that God actually created the sun, moon and stars at the time or that these luminous bodies became available for the first time to give light to the earth? Why?

(18) Verses 20-25—What is the proof that there was a time when there was no animal life upon the earth?

(19) Seeing the earth and the sea now teeming with life, what cause was adequate to produce it?

(20) Verses 26-28—What is the image of God, after which man was made?

(21) How long did it probably take God to make man?

(22) Verses 29-31—Did God originally plan for either man or beast to eat the flesh of other animals?

(23) Chap. ii:1-3—What was God's original plan for the Sabbath day?

"Every Little Olive Tablet Has a Movement All Its Own."

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Olive tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities.

HOW OLD YOU LOOK

Worn; and All Tired Out—It Is Not Necessary.

You act as though you just wondered how you are going to get through the rest of the winter and do your work.

You may be overworked or have had a bad cold which has left you without strength, ambition or much interest in life; in fact you are all run-down. Let us tell you that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, is just the remedy you need to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength.

A prominent Boston lawyer says: "My mother, who is 76 years of age, owes her good health to Vinol as since taking it she can walk farther and do more than she has for years. I consider it a wonderful blood making and strength creating tonic."

Granted Insurance After Consumption

There are so many cases of Consumption reported where the details show the disease started with a cold or a cough, that it is really surprising that people are not more anxious to immediately stop these apparently minor troubles. But it is not so. Stop the cough or cold, if possible, without delay. Otherwise more serious troubles are likely to follow. Let the medicines you are now taking do not bring relief, try Eckman's Alternative, as this man did—

"Gentlemen: I am giving you below a brief history of my case, which I trust you will use for the benefit of those suffering from any similar troubles."

"About a year and a half ago I noticed that my health was rapidly failing, until at the end of six months my weight had fallen to 120 pounds. I was a well-to-do man, with night sweats, a severe cough and was very weak, having in fact absolutely no ambition or interest in anything. About this time I consulted a physician who told me my lungs were affected. Not satisfied I went to another doctor, who after examining me said that I was in the first stages of consumption. At this point I started to take Eckman's Alternative. The night sweats stopped almost immediately, my cough became looser and gradually disappeared. My weight is now 142 pounds and my physician has pronounced me perfectly sound—which, together with the fact that I have been accepted by two different insurance companies for insurance, makes me sure of my entire recovery by Eckman's Alternative. I should be very glad to have been interested in any one who would be interested in my case."

(Signed Affairist) W. E. GEE.

Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa. for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists.
